Camp OAKS Summer 2024 STEAM Camp Set to Inspire and Innovate

Huntsville, AL – Camp OAKS is thrilled to announce its 2024 summer STEAM camp, which will begin on June 3, 2024, and be held at the Community Health Action Center (CHAC) on the Oakwood University campus. The camp is tailored for elementary and middle school-age students in the greater northwest Huntsville area, offering dynamic learning and exploration in science, technology, engineering, arts, and math (STEAM).

Campers will benefit from the STAND/OUT principles program, which emphasizes healthy lifestyle choices, led by Director Robin Daly. The camp will feature an Innovation Showcase where campers will perform a choreographed production.

Kristin Kiel, Senior Counsel for NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, will also bring her expertise to design an engaging STEAM curriculum. The camp will feature modules such as Robotic Pet Vet, Catching Air, E-Birds, Opti Bot, and Mimic Bot, all aligned with national and state science education standards. This year's program will build on these foundations with even more interactive modules.

A dedicated team of teachers and enthusiastic teacher's assistants from Oakwood University will provide top-notch instruction and support, ensuring an enriching experience for all participants.

Join us for an unforgettable summer of learning and fun at Camp OAKS 2024. For more information or to register, please visit CampOAKS.org.
